OVERVIEW

Megan is an associate in the Health Care Department and devotes her practice to the representation of hospitals, physicians, nurses, long-term care facilities, and other health care providers in the defense of medical malpractice and negligence claims. Megan also represents health care providers facing administrative or regulatory discipline by their governing medical board and before the Division of Administrative Hearings. In addition to health care defense, Megan handles a variety of premises and general liability claims.

Megan has been a Registered Nurse since 2010. She has worked as a pediatric critical care nurse in the neonatal intensive care unit, pediatric intensive care unit, pediatric cardiac intensive care unit and the pediatric emergency department. Megan's background in nursing helps to bridge the gap between medicine and the law. She graduated from Del Mar College with an Associate's Degree in Nursing and from Texas A&M University, Corpus Christi, with a Bachelor of Science in Nursing.

Before joining Marshall Dennehey, Megan worked as a defense attorney with a focus on health care litigation. She graduated cum laude from Nova Southeastern University Shepard Broad College of Law with a J.D. During her time in law school, Megan served as the president of the Health Law Society and organized a charity "trunk or treat" for a local special needs home for children.

Megan is a member of the Florida Bar, Orange County Bar Association and Central Florida Medical Malpractice Claims Council.

Summary Judgment for Daycare Center in Wrongful Death Case.

General Liability

May 7, 2021

We prevailed on a motion for summary judgment related to the duty owed to a minor business invitee in an alleged wrongful death. The plaintiff, the personal representative of the estate of a minor, filed a wrongful death claim alleging the defendant daycare center breached its duty to exercise the reasonable care owed to the minor while he was under the care and supervision of the center.
