OVERVIEW

Gabrielle is a member of the Professional Liability Department where she focuses her practice in the areas of first party property litigation, coverage determination and bad faith litigation. She also assists with privacy and data breach matters, helping clients to reduce cyber risk exposures and navigate incident response, containment, and compliance measures following a data breach. Gabrielle approaches each matter with a vigorous determination to resolve the actions brought against her clients and steadfastly maintains active and open lines of communication in her interactions.

Prior to joining Marshall Dennehey, Gabrielle was an associate at a boutique civil litigation firm where she represented individuals and businesses in various types of civil lawsuits. She also has extensive experience defending national and regional insurance companies in first party property suits.

Gabrielle received her juris doctor degree from Florida State University College of Law where she was an executive board member of the Student Bar Association and the President of the Entertainment, Arts, and Sports Law Association. During law school, Gabrielle served her community by working in a local legal clinic and completed various legal internships including working as a judicial intern to a Federal Magistrate Judge where she drafted judicial documents and attended legal proceedings. She also worked at a well-known plaintiff's personal injury firm in South Florida and an appellate firm where she drafted legal memorandums and briefs.

Gabrielle received her Bachelor of Science degree in Psychology and Family and Child Sciences with a Minor in Criminology from Florida State University. Outside of the office, Gabrielle loves spending time with her family, friends and her dog, Lucy.
