OVERVIEW

Megan is a member of the Professional Liability Department where she focuses her practice on the defense of errors and omissions claims brought against various professionals including attorneys.

Prior to joining Marshall Dennehey, Megan was a law clerk for the Honorable Alice Beck Dubow of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania. During her time there, she wrote opinions on appeals involving a wide range of civil and criminal legal issues.

Megan received her juris doctor from Temple University Beasley School of Law where she was a member of the Moot Court team and the Solicitations Chair of the Student Public Interest Network. Upon graduating, she served as an Assistant District Attorney for the Philadelphia District Attorney's Office. Megan then clerked for the Honorable Christopher R. Hall in the Philadelphia Court of Common Pleas, where she assisted the Judge with drafting opinions and ruling on pre-trial motions.

Prior to law school, Megan studied International Studies and Philosophy at the University of Scranton and completed a year of service through AmeriCorpsVISTA.

THOUGHT LEADERSHIP

Superior Court Holds that Gist of the Action Doctrine Does Not Bar Breach of Contract Claims Sounding in Professional Negligence

Philadelphia - Headquarters
Lawyers' Professional Liability
January 1, 2026

A trial court's grant of preliminary objections in a breach of contract action brought against the plaintiff's former attorneys was reversed after the Pennsylvania Superior Court, sitting en banc, determined that the trial
