OVERVIEW

Tony devotes his practice to Pennsylvania workers' compensation, unemployment compensation, municipal law (Heart and Lung Act), and federal Longshore and Harbor workers' compensation. He focuses on high-exposure, complex litigation including repetitive trauma claims, occupational disease and hearing loss claims, as well as chemical sensitivity claims. He also actively represents the National Hockey League and the National Basketball Association in regard to workers' compensation matters. In addition, Tony is the Chair of the Medicare Compliance Practice Group.

Tony has represented law firms, financial institutions, forging companies, steel mills, transportation companies, aeronautical/space manufacturers, universities and hospitals in various types of workers' compensation and unemployment compensation matters. He has handled multiple high-exposure workers' compensation chemical and toxic tort claims involving mass defendants, and he has had a high success rate in having clients dismissed from same.

Tony is the founder of Marshall Dennehey's in-house workers' compensation Continuing Legal Education program. He is also frequently called upon to speak to insurance companies and self-insured employers in the areas of workers' compensation and employment law.

RESULTS

Successfully Defended a Pennsylvania Township in a Fatal Claim Petition

Workers' Compensation

May 16, 2025

We successfully defended a township in Bucks County in the litigation of a fatal claim petition. The widow made an allegation that the decedent (a police K-9 officer) died in his home as a result of exercising with his police dog before heading to work. The fatal claim petition alleged that the decedent died of hypertrophic cardiomyopathy brought on by "vigorous exercise." The widow presented an expert who held himself out to be a cardiologist. We established during voir dire examination that the expert had no Board Certification in cardiology.

Successfully Defended Claim Petition for a Major Manufacturing Supplier

Workers' Compensation

March 7, 2025

We successfully defended a claim petition on behalf of one of the world's leading suppliers of equipment and services to packaging and label manufacturers. The claimant was helping to lift a 400-pound slab when she felt her shoulder "pop." She continued to work for several months, allegedly in pain, until she could no longer work. After vigorous cross examination, the claimant was forced to admit that she provided notice 122 days after the date of injury—which is untimely by the letter of the law.

Successfully Defended Claim Petition for Philadelphia-based University

Workers' Compensation

March 7, 2025

We successfully defended a claim petition on behalf of a Philadelphia-based university. While working for the university as a janitor, the claimant slipped and fell down a flight of concrete stairs. He alleged multiple body part injuries, from head to toe. The employer's panel doctor did find work injuries limited to the claimant's extremities. The claimant was referred by his attorney to a pain specialist, who opined significant injuries to multiple body parts.

Defense Verdict in Medicare Lien Dispute for Insurance Carrier

Medicare Compliance

February 12, 2025

We successfully defended a Massachusetts-based insurance company in a bitter dispute with the federal government regarding a Medicare conditional lien request. The insurance carrier's satellite office is based out of New Jersey, and the underlying claim involved an injury sustained in a motor vehicle accident with payments being made to the claimant under a New Jersey PIP policy. The carrier exhausted the PIP policy following the injury.

Defense Verdict Secured for a Montgomery County Police Department

Workers' Compensation

January 9, 2025

We successfully defended a Montgomery County police department in the litigation of a claim petition. The claimant, a police officer, attended an out-of-state extended-stay educational conference. One evening after the conference activities ended, the claimant attended a "booze cruise" where she was imbibing with conference attendees. She continued to socialize and party back at the hotel. Later that night, she entered her hotel suite (which was shared with another female officer), shining her flashlight in order to change clothes.

SIGNIFICANT REPRESENTATIVE MATTERS

Successfully argued that viewing the September 11 terrorist events and suffering a psychological condition did not rise to the degree of a work injury under Pennsylvania law.

Refined the interpretation of workers' compensation case law as it relates to the statute of limitations regarding death claims from medication abuse.

Successfully defeated and/or resolved at base value more than 400 high-exposure hearing loss cases in western and eastern Pennsylvania.

Successfully defended 50 late answer high-exposure claim petitions in eastern and middle Pennsylvania in 2007.

Successfully handled multiple heart attack and psychological claims.

Successfully handled multiple toxic tort (asbestos, silica) cases.
