Health Care Liability

February 23, 2026

We received a unanimous defense verdict of behalf of our clients. The plaintiff was a seven-year-old girl who presented with a sacral aneurysmal bone cyst, an expansile, lytic lesion that destroyed sacral bone and was causing compression on her lower lumbar and sacral nerve roots. The plaintiff experienced the inability to control her bladder and bowel post-operatively, and had no sensation in her sex organs.

Defense Verdict Secured in a New Jersey Medical Malpractice Case

Health Care Liability

November 24, 2025

We secured a defense verdict on behalf of an oral surgeon in a medical malpractice matter. The plaintiff alleged that our client deviated from accepted standards of care when extracting four wisdom teeth resulting in permanent injury to the inferior alveolar nerve. The jury returned a unanimous verdict for the defense.

SIGNIFICANT REPRESENTATIVE MATTERS

Received a unanimous defense verdict of behalf of a neurosurgeon and neurosurgical practice. The plaintiff presented with a sacral aneurysmal bone cyst that was causing compression on her lower lumbar and sacral nerve roots. Post-surgery, the plaintiff's experts alleged that the lower sacral nerve roots were transected by the defendants during the surgery. The defendants (and their experts) contended that the nerves were not transected, but instead were further injured by the necessary manipulation involved in removing the tumor — a recognized and accepted potential complication of this type of surgery.
