OVERVIEW

Amy Fox is an associate in our Casualty Department handling matters involving premises liability, automobile liability, hospitality and liquor liability and sports and entertainment litigation. Additionally, she represents national and local retail clients defending general casualty matters and negligent security matters.

Amy earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Communications with a concentration in Public Relations from James Madison University. Following graduation Amy worked in the publicity department of a movie production company. Having always had an interest in law, she then went on to work for many years as a paralegal for firms dedicated to insurance defense litigation. While simultaneously working and going to law school part-time, Amy earned her law degree from Seton Hall University School of Law. After graduation, she went on to work as a Law Clerk to the Honorable Peter G. Sheridan, U.S.D.J.
