OVERVIEW

Diane is a member of the firm's Appellate Advocacy and Post-Trial Practice Group. As an appellate and motion specialist, her written and oral advocacy help the firm achieve its litigation goals at both the trial and appellate level.

With over 15 years of writing experience, Diane is adept at drafting all kinds of motions, from dispositive motions and appeals to discovery motions, trial memoranda, and post-trial motions. Diane is skilled at drafting persuasive motion papers that highlight key issues for the motion court while creating a comprehensive record for appellate review.

Prior to joining Marshall Dennehey, Diane served as an appellate and motion attorney at a New York City law firm where she defended municipal entities and construction companies against Labor 240(1), 241(6) and 200 claims. Among other achievements, her advocacy resulted in the dismissal of plaintiff's entire case against all defendants in a New Jersey action where plaintiff attempted to apply New York Labor Law.

Diane has appeared for oral argument in the First and Second Departments of the Appellate Division.

RESULTS

New York Appellate Division Dismisses Appeal, Upholding Summary Judgment Victory

General Liability

March 19, 2025

We successfully defended against the plaintiff's appeal in the Appellate Division, Second Department. The appeal challenged an order that adhered to a prior ruling by the Supreme Court, Westchester County, which had granted the defendant's motion for summary judgment, dismissing the complaint. In our brief, we argued that the appeal should be dismissed due to the plaintiff's failure to assemble a proper record on appeal. The plaintiff omitted critical documents relied upon by the motion court, including submissions supporting and opposing the defendant's motion.
