OVERVIEW

Blake devotes his practice to the defense of employers and insurance carriers in claims and appeals arising under the Florida Workers' Compensation Act as well as claims brought under the federal Longshore and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act.

Blake is Board Certified by The Florida Bar in Workers' Compensation, a designation he earned in 2013. He is experienced in workers' compensation law dealing with the analysis and litigation of problems or controversies arising out of the Florida Workers' Compensation Law.

In addition to his practice that extends throughout the state of Florida, Blake is also licensed to practice law in North Carolina. He represents many insurance carriers and third party administrators. Additionally, he lectures on various topics concerning state and federal workers' compensation claims.

Blake proudly served as Co-Chair for the Friends of 440 Scholarship Fund between 2010 and 2012 and helped coordinate numerous fundraising events for the purpose of raising scholarship funds for the organization. When not working, Blake enjoys spending his time with his wife and daughter, cooking, reading and playing classical guitar.

The claimant was injured at work when the elevator he entered suddenly stopped and then plunged into a free fall. What's Hot in Workers' Comp, Vol. 29, No.

Treatment with authorized provider tolls statute of limitations, although treatment occurred without employer/carrier's knowledge and was billed to private health insurance, as it was similar in nature to previously authorized treatment.

The First District Court of Appeal issued another opinion in the ongoing statute of limitations saga triggered by the 2023 opinion in Ortiz v. Winn-Dixie, Inc., 361 So. 3d 889 (Fla. 1st DCA 2023) (Ortiz I). What's Hot in Workers' Comp, Vol. 29, No.

Although claimants have a statutory right to file petitions for benefits, a recent order imposing sanctions on a claimant's attorney highlights the non-frivolous litigation and 'good faith' limitations imposed on that statutory right.
