OVERVIEW

Michael A. Bayron is an accomplished attorney whose practice focuses on defending clients in matters involving premises and retail liability, New York Labor Law, amusement, sports and recreation, automobile liability, and general liability. He brings more than a decade of litigation experience to his work, representing clients across a wide range of industries and complex claims.

Before joining Marshall Dennehey, Michael served as a Senior Associate at a large New York insurance defense firm where he managed a high-volume caseload of catastrophic injury and Labor Law matters. He was actively involved in all stages of litigation, from document discovery and depositions to dispositive motions, appeals, and settlement negotiations. Earlier in his career, he practiced at mid-sized insurance defense firms where he handled cases involving premises liability, sports and recreation, motor vehicle accidents, and medical malpractice. He also served as an appellate attorney, prosecuting and defending appeals for the general liability and medical malpractice teams.

Michael began his career at a mid-sized firm where he defended healthcare professionals and medical institutions in complex medical malpractice litigation. Most recently, he expanded his expertise beyond the courtroom as Director of Risk Management for a community based teaching hospital, overseeing patient safety, claims management, and risk mitigation across multiple facilities. This unique blend of litigation and risk management experience gives him a practical, strategic perspective in defending clients and advising on liability exposure.

Michael earned his J.D. from the University of Baltimore School of Law and his B.A. in English Literature from Binghamton University. He is admitted to practice in New York State, as well as the Southern and Eastern Districts of New York.
