OVERVIEW

Maria is a member of the firm's Professional Liability Department where she focuses her practice on the defense of a broad range of clients including attorneys, accountants, insurance producers, corporate directors and officers, and financial institutions. She has experience handling all stages of litigation, from pleadings and motion practice to discovery and settlement negotiations and has represented clients in complex commercial disputes in state and federal court.

Prior to joining Marshall Dennehey, Maria worked as an associate at New York law firms specializing in complex commercial litigation, including corporate governance and fiduciary duty cases, regulatory investigations, and securities litigation.

Maria is a graduate of Fordham University School of Law where she was Managing Editor of the International Law Journal. She received a Bachelor of Arts from Vassar College.
