OVERVIEW

Chris is a member of the Casualty Department where he concentrates his practice on premises liability, automobile liability, general liability, and social services and human services liability matters.

Chris received his Bachelor of Arts degree in History and Journalism from New York University. He then received his juris doctor from Temple University James E. Beasley School of Law, where he was a Conwell Scholar and spent multiple semesters on the Dean's List.

After his first year of law school, Chris worked as a summer legal intern with the New Jersey Attorney General's Office, Community Affairs, State, and Elections section. During his second year, he completed a judicial internship with the Honorable Angelo J. Foglietta in the Philadelphia Court of Common Pleas, Civil Division. He also worked as a legal intern with the City of Philadelphia Law Department, Labor and Employment Unit.

After his second year, Chris worked as a summer law clerk with Marshall Dennehey and continued with the firm through his third year before returning full-time following the Pennsylvania Bar Exam.

During law school, Chris served as a volunteer law clerk with the Christian Legal Clinics of Philadelphia, where he conducted preliminary client interviews, drafted legal documents, and worked alongside attorneys to assist with a wide array of matters. He also competed as part of Temple Law School's Sports Law Negotiation Team, participating in several mock competitions across the country.

Chris is licensed to practice in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
