Keanna Seabrooks is a skilled attorney with litigation and trial experience handling cases on behalf of companies and their employees. At Marhsall Dennehey, she concentrates in the areas of commercial general liability. She handles matters in the fields of product liability, premises liability, auto liability, construction law, and commercial litigation. Keanna provides comprehensive representation to clients throughout all stages of litigation in both state and federal courts. Her approach to litigation is both client focused and outcome driven. She is committed to providing exceptional representation and personalized attention to each client, ensuring that their legal needs are met with the highest level of professionalism and diligence.

Keanna's experience encompasses a wide range of legal areas, including insurance defense, medical malpractice, civil rights litigation, prisoner rights litigation, state and federal employment matters, and general liability matters. She has also represented corporate entities and individuals at the arbitration and magistrate levels.

Outside of work, Keanna serves on the executive board of the Women's Bar Association of Western Pennsylvania. She is also deeply committed to community service and collaborates with various organizations, including the National Veterans Legal Services Program (NVLSP) and the Jewish Family and Community Support, to make a positive impact. She also serves on the executive board of the local Pittsburgh chapter of Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority, Inc. Through this international collegiate sorority and non-profit community service organization, she works towards improving the lives of women and their families in the Greater Pittsburgh Area.

Keanna obtained her law degree from the Thomas R. Kline School of Law of Duquesne University, where she distinguished herself as a Juris Staff Writer and was honored with the 2015 McGinley Public Service Law Fellowship. During her time in law school, she actively engaged in pro bono work for numerous organizations, including The Name Change Project, The Expungement Project, and The Landlord Tenant Project. Keanna also served as a student attorney in the Duquesne University Family Law Clinic and held a leadership role in the Black Law Students Association.
